On 26th January 2023, the ENI-CBC project HELIOS will celebrate 3 years of collaboration between 6 countries in the Mediterranean during the closing event to be held in the Sala Dei Dipinti located in the magnificent Teatro Massimo, Europe's third largest opera house.

During the project, Helios brought together public and private organizations, and enterprises from Italy, Palestine, Spain, Jordan, Greece and Tunisia to carry out concrete actions to promote the employment of young people and women.

Helios introduced new methodologies, focusing on coordinating the needs of unemployed young people and women (NEETs – not in employment, education or training) and those of enterprise in the target areas. Helios organized courses, created new curricula and an e-learning platform, and activated ongoing partnerships between technical and vocational training organizations and local enterprises. The courses provided participants with an introduction to the Blue and Circular Economies, those soft skills which are imperative to successful entry into the labour market and key entrepreneurial skills for those interested in developing a new business idea of their own.

Thanks to EU ENI-CBC funding, Helios partner organizations have dedicated over three years to forging the way forward to tackle the issue of skills mismatching, extremely high rates of unemployment amongst young people and women and transition towards a more sustainable future in industry. Now we would like to cascade the results and lessons learnt to those working towards similar goals.

The event programme includes guest speakers from our partner countries presenting key case studies, speakers from Sicilian enterprises which participated in the co-creation of our courses and skills development, and testimonial participants.
